

About the Institute

HRH The Prince of Wales Institute of Engineering and Technology (POWIET), Jorhat, is one of Assam's historic technical institutions, established in 1927 with the vision of providing quality technical education and developing skilled engineering professionals. The institute traces its origin to the vision and generous contribution of Late Bholanath Boruah, an eminent Assamese timber merchant, who contributed ₹1 lakh in 1922 towards its establishment. Over the decades, POWIET has grown into a prominent centre of technical education, committed to academic excellence, practical learning, innovation, and the development of competent engineering professionals. Strategically located in the heart of Jorhat town, the institute enjoys excellent road, rail and air connectivity. With its rich legacy and continued commitment to quality technical education, POWIET remains an important institution in Assam's engineering and technical education landscape.

About the Conference

The National Conference on Convergence, Innovation and Development of Science, Engineering and Society for a Resilient Future (CIDSESRF-2027) aims to bring together researchers, academicians, scientists, engineers, students, and professionals to exchange knowledge and explore innovative solutions for contemporary challenges. The conference focuses on fundamental and applied science, emerging technologies for sustainability, intelligent engineering systems, sustainable and resilient technologies, society, culture, education and human development, and mathematical, computational, economic and data-driven perspectives. By encouraging interdisciplinary collaboration and the convergence of science, engineering, technology, and society, CIDSESRF-2027 seeks to promote sustainable development, technological innovation, environmental security, inclusive growth, and a resilient future.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON

CONVERGENCE, INNOVATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF SCIENCE, ENGINEERING AND SOCIETY FOR A RESILIENT FUTURE

CIDSESRF-2027

 Date: 13/02/2027 & 14/02/27

 Venue: HRH The POWIET, Jorhat

 Organized by: HRH The POWIET

Mode: Offline

Gar Ali, Jorhat-785 001, Assam, India

Six Broad Themes, One Shared Vision

1. Frontiers in Fundamental and Applied Science
2. Science and Emerging Technologies for Sustainability and Resilient Future
3. Emerging Technologies and Intelligent Engineering Systems
4. Sustainable Engineering, Innovation and Resilient Technologies
5. Society, Culture, Education and Human Development for a Resilient Future
6. Mathematical, Computational, Economic and Data-Driven Perspectives for an Inclusive Society

Submission Guidelines

- Participants are requested to register using the provided Registration Link.
- Authors should submit their research articles through email to hrhthepowietcidsesrf@gmail.com
